

JOHN C. PEMBERTON SONS OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS

IN THE TRENCHES

MARCH 2021

FROM THE COMMANDER

Edward Campbell

Dear Compatriots:

I hope that all of you got through the winter storm last week and that you are all on the way back to normal. It is good to get out again, as much as I like winter time, I have had my fill of winter weather and look forward to Spring time and even Summer. It was good to have some extremely cold weather in order to cut down on insects this summer. It is also good that it is over.

Our next meeting is March 2 and our friend from across the river, Sandy Mitcham is going to be our speaker. Please come and bring a friend as you know that if Sandy speaks that you are in for a treat. Also, please bring some cash as he has written a new book and will be selling them at the meeting. We always look forward to hearing what Sandy has to say. He is a great friend to our Camp and will of course be the keynote speaker at our Division Reunion in June here in Vicksburg.

This Friday and Saturday we have the privilege of having a table set up at the Civil War Relic Show that is being held here in Vicksburg on Friday and Saturday. We will be selling coins and a few small items as well as getting people to sign our flag petition. I am looking for volunteers to help with the table on Friday and Saturday. The times are Friday from 1-7 and Saturday from 9-5. We will be setting up on Thursday night at the outlet mall and if anyone is able to help with that, it would be greatly appreciated. This is a great opportunity for us to present a positive picture of the SCV to the city of Vicksburg and to visitors who will be coming through. If you are able to help out for even just an hour or two hours at the most, please let me know.

Upcoming events include our Spring Flea Market on April 24 and our Confederate Memorial Day on April 25. More details on those events as the time gets closer. Also, of course we are now getting Registration forms for our Division Reunion on June 11-13 which we expect all of our Camp members to help out in some way or other.

I would like to thank everyone who helped out with the cleanup at Soldier's Rest Cemetery on the first weekend in February. You all did a great job. We will be scheduling other work days so if anyone is able or interested in helping, please let me or Bryan Skipworth know.

Please put March 2 down on your calendar and come and bring a friend to the next Camp meeting. We are a growing Camp with a lot of enthusiasm and we look forward to the upcoming events and especially to the Division Reunion this summer. Sandy Mitcham is always a great speaker. You will not be disappointed.

God Bless each of you and God Bless the South,

*John Clifford Pemberton

THE SCV CHARGE POLICY

Compatriots,

We are fast approaching the Reunion season and it has been brought to my attention the SCV Charge Policy had not been shared with you. Below you will find the official policy adopted by the GEC on October 10, 2020 at our last meeting:

It shall be the policy approved by the General Executive Council of the Sons of Confederate Veterans that all its Divisions, camps, and subdivisions or subordinate organizations will incorporate in their Constitutions and or By-Laws the following Charge from Lt. General Stephen Dill Lee and nothing will be added or removed from said Charge to keep it in historical accuracy as published in The Constitution of the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

"To you, Sons of Confederate Veterans, we will commit the vindication of the cause for which we fought. To your strength will be given the defense of the Confederate soldier's good name, the guardianship of his history, the emulation of his virtues, the perpetuation of those principles which he loved and which you love also, and those ideals which made him glorious and which you also cherish."

Any current or future publications of the said Charge of Lt. General Stephen Dill Lee shall have the Charge as adopted and approved by the General Executive Council of the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Unanimously adopted by the General Executive Council on October 10, 2020

God Bless our Southland,

Larry McCluney, Jr.

THE NATIONAL CONFEDERATE MUSEUM AT ELM SPRINGS

Since 1992, the General Headquarters of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, Inc. has been located in Columbia, Tennessee at historic Elm Springs. Built in 1837, Elm Springs is an impressive Greek-Revival mansion situated on nearly eighty acres of rolling farmland.

The membership of the Sons of Confederate Veterans at the 2009 National Reunion at Hot Springs, Arkansas voted in favor of building a museum and at the Headquarters in Columbia. The official ground-breaking ceremony was held in October 2016. Four years later, the building opened to the public and SCV membership on October 10, 2020.

The museum building was designed to resemble a large carriage house, one that might accent the style and age of historic Elm Springs. The interior of the museum features a spacious gift shop and lobby, a research library, and two exhibit halls. The offices of the SCV General Headquarters were also incorporated into the new building. In total, the museum building has 18,500 square feet of usable space with unfinished shell space that can be used for future growth.

No government funding was used in the construction of this building. Nor will government funding will be used in the operation of the museum. This means no politically-correct politician or justice warrior can dictate what can be displayed in the museum or how it shall be interpreted. This museum is owned and operated by the Sons of Confederate Veterans and all of the exhibits will be created by the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Visitors to the National Confederate Museum in Columbia will be given the true history of the War Between the States, not the re-imagined, watered-down versions fabricated by modern "scholars." This museum will bring the Southern War of Independence to life using primary sources and artifacts to illustrate not only how the Confederate Soldier fought, but why.

The exhibit halls are still under construction. Cases are currently being built for the many artifacts awaiting display. 2021 promises to be a big year for the National Confederate Museum.

Take this journey with us. Support the museum as a donor or join the Friends of the Museum today!

SOLDIERS REST

The city of Vicksburg served as a major hospital center in the early years of the Civil War. A section in the Cedar Hill Cemetery was set aside to provide a fitting burial place for Confederate soldiers who died of sickness or wounds. Known as "Soldiers' Rest," the plot in Cedar Hill Cemetery is the final resting place for an estimated 5,000 Confederate soldiers.

A local undertaker, Mr. J.Q. Arnold, was hired by the Confederate government to bury Southern soldiers, and carried out those duties throughout the siege of Vicksburg. Mr. Arnold meticulously maintained records of the soldiers he buried, assigning each one a grave number. Regrettably, his list and map of the cemetery disappeared after the siege, although a portion of his list was re-discovered in the early 1960s, giving the name, rank, company, unit, and date of death for 1,600 soldiers. Approximately 3,500 names are unknown. The document is now part of the archival records at the Old Courthouse Museum in Vicksburg, MS.

Due to the disappearance of Mr. Arnold's records, only a few private headstones marked the plot until 1893. On April 26 of that year, the ladies of the Confederate Memorial Association to honor their memory by placing memorials for them in Soldier's Rest.

Discoveries continue to be made about the history of Soldier's Rest. As recently as August 2018, a new list of more than 150 previously unknown soldier and widow burials was discovered and is in the process of being added to the records. Ms. Anna Fuller, in cooperation with several other volunteers, researches and maintains the information about those Confederate heroes who are interred there.

The information that has been collected can be viewed online at soldiersrestvicksburg.com and on Facebook by searching for "Soldiers Rest Confederate Cemetery Vicksburg MS." Soldiers Rest is located inside Cedar Hill Cemetery, 326 Lovers Lane, Vicksburg, MS.

THE UNHOLY TRINITY

By H. V. Traywick, Jr.

*Equality of condition among their subjects has been one of the foremost concerns of despotisms and tyrannies since ancient times. - Hannah Arendt, from
The Origins of Totalitarianism*

Today's political virtue-postings and "hue and cry" against the South's Confederate monuments honoring her soldiers is based upon the specious charges of Treason, Slavery, and Racism. This, however, is "presentism," which is history twisted to conform to present-day politics – in this case to today's racist Progressive Identity Politics. Progressives have taken a page out of George Orwell's 1984: "Who controls the past controls the future. Who controls the present controls the past."

To accuse the Confederacy of treason, one must first wipe one's feet on the Declaration of Independence, signed by the thirteen slaveholding Colonies that seceded from the British Empire in 1776. Lincoln's invasion of the Southern States, which he did not recognize as being out of the Union, is treason according to Article 3, Section 3 of the U. S. Constitution. Self-defense against invasion, conquest, and coerced political allegiance is not. No Confederate was ever tried for treason after the war.

To claim that the Confederacy "took up arms to destroy the Union in defense of slavery" please see above. To claim that the United States waged war against the Confederacy to end slavery, one must ignore not only Lincoln's emphatic disclaimer to the contrary in his First Inaugural Address, but also the fact that his Emancipation Proclamation, issued two years later, stated plainly that slavery was all right as long as one was loyal to his government - proven the following summer when West Virginia, a so-called "slave State," was admitted into the Union.

As for racism, please note that the first "Jim Crow" laws originated in the North. After many Northern States abolished slavery for its dedicated a beautiful stone monument featuring the standing figure of a Confederate Soldier. It was not until the early 1980s, following the discovery of the partial list, that the headstones were erected through the combined effort of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Veterans' Administration. The stones were arranged with military precision and placed in state groupings. In 1998, an additional 72 headstones were erected by the Sons of Confederate Veterans to honor soldiers whose identities were established on a second list which surfaced in the collection of the Old Courthouse Museum.

Soldiers Rest also contains memorial markers for those who died at Cooper's Wells in Hinds County, and an effort is being made to honor the lives lost on the CSS Arkansas. Unfortunately, stones could not be placed at the actual resting places for the soldiers in both of these groups, so a decision was made inutility in their mercantile economy, the owners sold their slaves South and the States passed “Jim Crow” laws prohibiting any Blacks – either slave or free - from returning. The North’s strong objection to slavery in the Territories was based on Northerners’ strong objection to Blacks in the Territories. The sainted Lincoln - himself a White supremacist who supported his home State of Illinois’ “Jim Crow” laws - worked until the day he died to have the freed Blacks deported to Central America or back to Africa.

As for Black racism, remember that it was Black Africans who captured and sold Black Africans into slavery in the first place. Furthermore, United States Census records in the nineteenth century listed many free Black owners of slaves in both the North and the South – some owning hundreds.

So what was the War “about”? Don’t confuse the many causes of secession with the single cause of the war, which was secession itself! The peaceful withdrawal of any State from the voluntary Union of sovereign States would have in no way prevented those remaining from having “a more perfect Union.” So what was the real reason for Lincoln’s war to “save the Union”? Follow the Yankee dollar and know the Truth. With the South’s “Cotton Kingdom” out of the Union, the North’s “Mercantile Kingdom” would collapse. So Lincoln – rejecting peace overtures by Confederate diplomats - launched his armada against Charleston Harbor to provoke South Carolina into firing the first shot. South Carolina responded to Lincoln’s provocation just as Massachusetts – the self-anointed “Patriot State” - had responded to King George’s provocation at Lexington and Concord in 1775.

Virginia, “The Mother of States and of Statesmen,” stood solidly for the voluntary Union of 1788 she had given so much to create and perpetuate. But when Lincoln called for her troops to invade and subjugate the Confederacy, Virginia refused, indicted Lincoln for “choosing to inaugurate civil war,” and immediately seceded. Four other States (including occupied Missouri) followed her out. There stands the Truth, not with the North’s “Court Historians” and their mythical “Battle-Cry of Freedom.”

Union at the point of a bayonet is slavery to a despotic government. Confederate monuments speak Truth to this Power. No wonder the Marxist heathen rage and have been incited to rioting, vandalizing, and tearing them down under the approving eyes of “The Party of Big Government” and its handmaidens in the media. And no wonder public schools, colleges and universities – government funded indoctrination centers for “The Myth of American History” – have cast the Truth down the Orwellian “memory hole.”

A native of Lynchburg, Virginia, the author graduated from the Virginia Military Institute in 1967 with a degree in Civil Engineering and a Regular Commission in the US Army. His service included qualification as an Airborne Ranger, and command of an Engineer company in Vietnam, where he received the Bronze Star. After his return, he resigned his Commission and ended by making a career as a tugboat captain. During this time he was able to earn a Master of Liberal Arts from the University of Richmond, with an international focus on war and cultural revolution. He is a member of the Jamestown Society, the Society of the Cincinnati in the State of Virginia, the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and the Society of Independent Southern Historians. He currently lives in Richmond, where he writes, studies history, literature and cultural revolution, and occasionally commutes to Norfolk to serve as a tugboat pilot.

RECONSTRUCTION IS BACK

By Al Benson

Back in 1868 the Russian radical, Michael Bakunin, commented on the aftermath of the War of Northern Aggression. Considering he was not an American, Bakunin had some interesting comments to make about that war. In the book Russian Radicals Look To America it was noted, on page 70 that “Bakunin hoped for the ‘triumph’ of this minority ‘of great and generous...principles,’ but at the same time was aware of the limited possibilities of the ‘revolution by consent’ (as we would call it today), once this minority achieved power. For ‘popular self-government’ really to become a reality...another revolution...far more profound...would be necessary.”

What Bakunin was really saying here is that another revolution, over and beyond the War of Northern Aggression, would be needed to give newly freed ex-slaves the place they really deserved in this country—and that further revolution was what Karl Marx referred to as “the reconstruction of a social world”—what we call “reconstruction” in the South. Two things here. One, Bakunin recognized the War of Northern Aggression was a revolution, and it was. It was this country’s French Revolution. Two, he recognized that our version of the French Revolution was not quite enough to give the leftist radicals in Washington everything they hoped for and so, to do that, we needed yet another revolution, a revolution that lying “historians” have told us was to rebuild the vanquished South—and they had the gall to call it “reconstruction.” Former General Richard Taylor from here in Louisiana called it “deconstruction” and he was right!

If you want to find out how well “reconstruction” really worked for the South and its folk, then read Ron and Donnie Kennedy’s book Punished with Poverty from Shotwell Publishing in Columbia, South Carolina, and you will get an up close and personal view of how “reconstruction” worked for the South.

The late Frank Conner in his book The South Under Siege—1830-2000 noted some of what was “accomplished” during “reconstruction” in the South. Mr. Conner observed that “...voter registration boards (named by the military authorities) could arbitrarily deny the vote to anyone: in other words, Southern Democrats would have a very hard time getting registered to vote...Now the South was under martial law. The occupying army could enter and search any Southerner’s home at any time and seize whatever possessions it wished...The U.S. Army could arrest any Southerner at any time for virtually any reason and hold him as a prisoner without trial for however long it wished...Woe unto any Southerner who displayed—under any circumstances at all—a Confederate flag or any other symbol of the Confederacy, he would be arrested immediately.” Former Confederate soldiers even had to remove CSA buttons off their coats and fasten those coats with string! Does any of this sound remotely familiar given today’s political climate—particularly the part about the flags—and that part has now been expanded to include Confederate monuments—the reason given for that? They supposedly promote “racism.”

Look at some of what has gone on recently in this country. It looks to me like our current crop of leftists in both parties in Washington has been using the playbook of the Radical Republicans from the 1860s as a guide to what they want to enact in our day. One is left to wonder how long it will be before they start trying to enforce the finer points of this updated “reconstruction.” Already Trump voters are all being labeled as “domestic terrorists” who, if not all arrested should at least be forced to attend “re-education camps”. They did the same thing in the 1860s in the South—only back then the re-education camps were called public schools and they were a particularly Yankee invention foisted on the South as part of our price for losing the War. Same principle in both cases.

Back in the 1860s Southerners who would not vote Republican were routinely denied the vote. They’re not doing that today—yet—rather they are going to cancel out our votes by letting anyone who comes into the country vote, citizen or not and they are talking about even giving the vote to 16 year olds. They plan to make sure those nasty Trump voters never have enough votes again to constitute a majority and should that occur again by sheer accident a bit of creative voting in certain states will solve that thorny problem for them.

Actually, “reconstruction” in this country never really ended. It took a slight breather but now it has returned with a vengeance. One wonders if Trump voters are the new Confederates in this ongoing story of leftist occupation of the country. So, folks, welcome to the 21st century brand of “reconstruction” designed by the deep state to ensure that you never get your God-given liberties back—ever again!!!

Al Benson is the South’s best-known Copperhead (Northern-born patriot), a prolific columnist, and the coauthor of Lincoln’s Marxists.

WHY THEY FOUGHT

“...who die {d} grandly, gloriously, nobly; dyeing the soil of old mother earth, and enriching the same with their crimson life’s blood, while doing what? Only trying to protect their homes and families, their property, their constitution and their laws, that had been guaranteed to them as a heritage forever by their forefathers. They died for the faith that each state was a separate sovereign government, as laid down by the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of our fathers.” - The words of CSA Soldier Sam Watkins

WORK DAY AT SOLDIER'S REST

A reminder of the past and holder of many memories*

*It stands quiet and stately and faces out toward the sea
It seems to say to every one, please come and visit me*

*It has been many things down through the years
It has heard a child's laughter and felt a soldier's tears*

*It was Jefferson Davis's home, the president of the confederacy
And it was for this reason it earned a place in history*

*It was damaged by storms but arose again like new
And still lives up to it's name, Beauvoir, beautiful to view*
